

Maryland Senator and Delegates Visit the Tawes Garden

On June 1, 2022 the Friends of Tawes Garden were pleased and honored to host Senator Sarah Elfreth and Delegates Shaneka Henson and Dana Jones, all representing District 30A in which Tawes is located, for a special guided tour of the Garden.

Accompanying the group on behalf of the Dept. of Natural Resources were Philip Hager, Assistant Secretary for Land Resources, and Bunky Luffman, Director of Legislative and Constituent Services.

Of course, when the Friends first extended the invitation late last Fall we had no way of knowing that June 1 would prove to be the hottest day of the year up to that point, well into the 90°s! Nevertheless, the intrepid legislators all arrived ready and eager for their visit and expressed no dismay over the heat, although they probably appreciated the fact that most of the Garden is well shaded.

DNR Ranger Jay Myers gave a short tour as the guests strolled the paths, pointing out some of the Garden's history, its beautifully designed and engineered topography, some of its unusual plants and educational attributes, and highlighting its role as a valuable open-space resource for Annapolis.

The tour was followed by a question-and-answer session during which the Friends had the opportunity to present their view that the Tawes Garden is an underutilized State asset with the potential to be much more than it presently is. We were also able to set forth some of the challenges the Garden faces with regard to funding for repairs and maintenance, status within the State Park system, and visitor access and parking.

The legislative guests, who describe themselves as a "get-things-done" trio, all expressed enjoyment of their tour and the Garden and agreed that it has unrealized potential. The Friends, in turn, greatly appreciate their giving their valuable time--on a very hot morning--to visit the Garden and listen to our concerns. We enjoyed having the chance to meet them and hope we may have gained some advocates for the future of the Tawes Garden.

REMEMBERING STEVIE LYTTLE

Where'er you walk cool gales shall fan the glade;
Trees, where you sit, shall crowd into a shade.

(from Where'er You Walk by Alexander Pope)

Where trees crowd into a shade today, such was not always the case at the Helen Avalynne Tawes Garden. Prior to construction of the Tawes State Office Building (headquarters of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources) in 1970, the garden site was a flat cinder lot. For many years, it provided a home for the West Annapolis carnival. Fortunately for us, a part of the building contract included the garden's initial framework.

By the fall of 1973, Stevie Lyttle had come on the scene. She was a woman with a vision of developing a "handicapped trail" in Annapolis. As a past director of District II of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland, she had been directed to meet with then Secretary of Natural Resources, James B. Coulter. He was receptive to her idea and set up a group of Natural Resources' employees to work with her. Department of General Services' employees including the Superintendent of Annapolis Public Buildings and Grounds became a part of this group as did other garden club members. Stevie's idea was soon expanded in concept to be a completely barrier-free garden with a Maryland-in-miniature theme consisting of a Western Maryland forest, an Eastern Shore peninsula, and a Streamside Community.

Stevie worked tirelessly with this committee for more than twenty years serving as liaison to the District II garden clubs. Through this channel, she was able to solicit funds and gain the support of the various clubs. Over the years, much planning took place. Development, however, occurred at a slower pace. Despite this, Stevie was always delighted with every accomplishment, no matter how small. She was a very gracious lady and a most pleasant person to know and work with.

When Stevie Lyttle passed away in June 1994, many contributions were received in her memory. With those funds, improvements were made around an existing kiosk at the center of the garden. Surrounded by oak trees and colorful azaleas, this location created an inviting seating area. Four redwood benches were placed facing a bronze sculpture of a swan. The words of her favorite poem The Mirror (A.A. Milne), which speaks of a swan, are featured on a plaque.

The Helen Avalynne Tawes Garden passes recertification as a level II Arboretum

The Tawes Garden is a Garden and Arboretum. Every two years documentation pertaining to acquisition, mapping, and tracking of trees is submitted to ArbNet as a requirement for reaccreditation. Our recertification application has been reviewed and approved. Adhering to the standards required by the association aids the garden staff in maintaining the health and diversity of its tree canopy which is invaluable in combatting global warming.

About ArbNet

ArbNet is an interactive, collaborative, international community of arboreta. ArbNet facilitates the sharing of knowledge, experience, and other resources to help arboreta meet their institutional goals and works to raise professional standards through the ArbNet Arboretum Accreditation Program. The accreditation program, sponsored and coordinated by The Morton Arboretum in Lisle, Illinois in cooperation with American Public Gardens Association and Botanic Gardens Conservation International, is the only global initiative to officially recognize arboreta based on a set of professional standards. The program offers four levels of accreditation, recognizing arboreta of various degrees of development, capacity and professionalism. Standards include planning, governance, public access, programming and tree science, planting and conservation. More information is available at www.arbnet.org.
